

Are representations of females in the media changing?

2016 has seen a lot of progress on the women's liberation front, and we are finally seeing a change in the representation of women within the media.

In an interview with Jennifer Lawrence, protagonist of the Hunger Games franchise, she told us; "Girls will never be able to obtain unrealistic expectations shown to them by the media. It's better to be strong and healthy". This highlights the remaining issues of today.

"It's better to be strong and healthy".- Jennifer

Lawrence

Lawrence showcases this in her role as Katniss Everdeen in The Hunger Games.

